Welcome Spring 2012 participants!!! I am so excited to be back as your team captain. I have been with TNT since 2009 and I must say each and every season has been amazing and rewarding in its own way.

The most important thing for you to know is that I am here for YOU, just like the rest of the support staff. So come talk to me and ask me your questions. If I'm not able to answer your question, I can at least flash you a smile and direct you to the person who can.

There were a few different things that all came together and got me to join TNT, but the reason I stay is because every time I think about the moment just before I crossed my very first marathon finish line, I get teary eyed and am flushed with the joy, excitement and feeling of accomplishment I experienced right then and there. That feeling is one I will never forget. Then, a few months later, I - as a mentor - experienced seeing my first participant cross their first finish line. The overwhelming pride I felt was yet another feeling that can never be topped. Being a part of TNT has given me the feeling of being on top of the world over, and over again in a million different ways. It is a feeling that I'd like the privilege of helping you experience.

TNT has been, and continues to be, the experience of a lifetime with people I will love forever. So, if you're new...welcome, welcome, WELCOME! You are in for a treat and, I promise, you will not regret this. If you're a TNT alumni...welcome back! Here's to another wonderful season! If you're checking us out...just join us already! Trust me, you've got nothing to lose, but a whole lot to gain.

Alright, people...let's save some lives...one mile at a time :)
